GRAMPA DEMONS

Even though he's never actually seen a demon, he's always talking about them. Every time he talks about them, it becomes more exaggerated. By the fifth person, oftentimes the story no longer resemble how it was originally. When he tells kids about them, he makes them sound even more horrifying to scare them. He imagines how they won't be able to go to the toilet by themselves at night and chuckles to himself. He's got a malicious side to him.
